

MARRIED AT FIRST SIGHT BY GU LINGFEI

Chapter 3046

Whenever Carrie had a bad life, she would put all the blame on Camryn, and her resentment towards Camryn would increase.

She would not forget to drag out Serenity and scold her thousands of times.

Camryn over there sneezed several times.

Callum, who had just come out of the bathroom, heard Camryn sneezing a few times.

He quickly walked over and asked with concern, "Did you catch a cold? Look, you didn't put on your coat after you came out of the shower." "The heating is turned off in the room.

It's cold, and I need to turn on the heating." Callum said that and turned on the heater.

Camryn said, "I'm not cold.

I'm covered with a quilt, and I'm also wearing warm clothes.

I'm not catching a cold.

It's probably because Carrie is scolding me behind my back." When attending a banquet at Erickson's house, she didn't feel cold, even in her evening dress.

The Erickson family turned on the heater, and it was very warm.

"It's so late; she can't even dream of scolding you." Callum still took her coat and put it on her shoulders.

He sat on the bed next to her, then put his arms around her shoulders, using his body temperature to warm her.

"It's a little colder in the villa." Callum didn't turn on the heating again.

After the heating was turned on and the room was no longer cold, Camryn didn't like him hugging her to sleep and said it was uncomfortable.

This is what Callum learned from Zachary: He shouldn't turn on the heater if he wants his wife to sleep with him.

The winter was not excessively chilly in Wiltspoon.

Indoors, it was comfortable if there were no windy or wet conditions.

The main thing was that when the temperature was over ten degrees, there was really no need to turn on the heating.

"Mom said something happened at the banquet, and you handled it well.

Mom also praised you for handling it well." Callum changed his clothes and had a shower after Camryn returned.

Callum hadn't heard from Camryn about the banquet yet.

As soon as Rosella returned, she pulled Callum aside and whispered to him, "At the Erickson family's banquet, Camryn met her love rival.

Please explain it to Camryn carefully later.

Don't she misunderstood." He was shocked when he heard Rosella's words.

How could Camryn have any love rival? He didn't mess around with women outside—not before, not now, and never in the future.

He only loved Camryn in his life.

No matter how many outstanding girls there were, he didn't like her.

"Mom, who is it?" He asked Rosella to know who had harmed him, but she actually said it was Camryn's love rival.

Rosella didn't tell him and asked him to go back to his room and ask Camryn.

Callum was very anxious at the time.

But Rosella refused to speak, and he could not pry her mouth open.

When he returned to the room, he did not ask her immediately but very considerately helped her find clothes and put out the bath water.

Only now did he tentatively ask about what happened at the banquet.

Camryn turned her head to look at him.

Callum suddenly became nervous when she saw him.

However, he could still bear it, looked at Camryn calmly, and asked her with a smile, "Wife, why are you looking at me like this?" Camryn stretched out her hand to touch his face and eyes, touching him back and forth several times.

She suddenly smiled and said, "It's only now that I feel that my husband is particularly good-looking.

No wonder so many girls admire you and have a crush on you." The will be updated daily.

Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!

Chapter 3047

Callum said, "Wife, I'm not a philanderer." Camryn said, "I know.

I didn't say that you were flirting with women.

I meant that you are very good- looking and outstanding.

You have fascinated many girls.

When a man sees a beautiful woman, he will take a few more glances or even fall in love at first sight.

Similarly, when a woman sees a handsome guy, she will take a second look and be tempted.

At the banquet, Rylee took me to greet people she knew well and introduced them to me.

I dare say that this was the first time I met that girl.

She turned out to be indifferent to me, and later she even ignored me.

I was rude.

I was still surprised at the time.

I had never offended her.

Later, I found out that she loved you and that I was her love rival.” Callum’s handsome face sank, and he asked in a deep voice, “Wife, who is she?” Camryn was willing to say hello to Samira, which was already a sign of respect for Samira.

Samira actually ignored Camryn.

Camryn gently pinched his handsome face and said to him, “Don’t have a gloomy face when you hear a bad word.

You have always been gentle and elegant.

When you are cold-faced, you are a bit like your elder brother.

Callum, I don’t like your gloomy look.” She had never seen Callum before and had no idea what he looked like or what his expression was.

Just by getting along with him, she concluded that he was a gentle and elegant man.

In the eyes of outsiders, Callum was indeed a gentle and elegant man, but he also had the domineering nature of a man from the York family.

Sometimes when he was angry, he had a cold face, which was comparable to Zachary.

Zachary was used to cold faces; Callum rarely had cold faces; and a sudden cold face could scare people to death.

Camryn smiled, smoothed his frown, and said warmly, “I didn’t say anything about you.

I don’t know what kind of person you are.

Many women like a good man.

I have a love rival, which means you are very popular with women.

He didn't even know what Samira looked like.

Samira: Every time she sees Callum at a banquet, she will wander into Callum's sight several times.

Was it true that Callum had no impression of a young and beautiful young lady like her?

Chapter 3048

If she missed such a good man as Callum, she would really regret it for the rest of her life.

Evelyn also did her job over and over again, advising her not to miss Callum.

Even Trenton, who was young and energetic, admired Callum and told her that all of Callum's eyes were for her.

Together with Evelyn, she persuaded her to accept Callum's feelings.

She said that since the York family didn't dislike her for being blind, they shouldn't dislike herself.

She was also very good; there was no need to feel inferior.

She knew Callum was sincere with her.

But she was still blind at that time, and a man as good as he could find a better one.

There was no need to waste time on a blind person like her.

Until she found out that Callum had gone to FC Manor several times to ask Dr.

Carden to help her treat her eyes.

For this, Tim complained that he had disturbed Dr.

Carden's confinement period.

Callum said with a low smile, "No one can take me away.

I belong to you, and you belong to me.

Grandma picked you out for me.

To be honest, I said at the beginning that my grandma was partial and that the wife she chose for me was a blind woman.

I am still a bit narcissistic.

I feel that I am very good and not inferior to my elder brother.

Grandma used her filial piety to ask her eldest brother to marry her.

Although her background is not very good, she is a normal person.

Even the third child is pretty good.

Grandma said, There are many surprises in you; let me dig them out little by little." Callum kissed Camryn on the face again and said warmly, "Wife, when I first approached you, I really wanted to see how surprising the person grandma chose for me was.

I didn't expect it to really surprise me.

You can't see that you can move freely in a familiar environment.

I just thought that the one grandma gave me would be good, so I started to take action.

I asked you to send me flowers first.

I thought, Let you become familiar with my local environment.

That way, you can move freely.

I am happy to take care of you in a strange place, but I am afraid that you will feel inferior and refuse to accept me.

I have to make you confident at all times.

Because she never imagined that Callum would like her.

She didn't expect that he would actually pursue her—not just for fun.

She didn't think that he really liked her, even though she was aware that Grandma had chosen her for him.

She was always worried that he was just trying to be fresh and would no longer like her after the freshness wore off.

She was also worried that he was doing it to complete the task assigned to him by Grandma and did not really love her.

It was Callum's actual actions that proved that he truly loved her.

There was nothing more to say all night.

Chapter 3049

Callum's steadfast stare woke Camryn up the following morning.

She woke up feeling like someone was staring at her.

Opening her eyes, she met Callum's dark eyes.

After blinking, she reached out to cover his eyes, then closed them again and said, "Husband, why are you staring at me like this? It's a good thing you don't eat people; otherwise, I would have been worried that you wanted to eat me." Callum was like this more than once.

Several times, he would stare at her very intently after waking up.

Even if she is asleep, her instinctive vigilance will wake her up from her dream.

She had just received the marriage certificate, and when the couple slept together for the first time, she was startled by his focused gaze.

She thought there was a thief.

Because it was her first time sleeping in the same bed, she was not used to it yet.

Also forgetting that they have become husband and wife.

After seeing clearly that it was him, her instinctive reaction was to pull up the quilt and wrap herself tightly, then stick her feet out from under the quilt and kick him out of the bed.

Callum was kicked so hard that he was stunned.

Camryn came back to her senses and remembered that the two of them had already received the certificates.

She was also confused, so she quickly got out of bed and helped him up from the ground.

She smiled and said to him, "I forgot that we got a marriage certificate.

I thought you wanted to take advantage of me, so I kicked you out of bed." With a dark look on his face, Callum said to her, "When have I ever taken advantage of you? Even if we don't get a marriage certificate, we are still an unmarried couple.

What's wrong with me lying on your bed?" Camryn smiled sheepishly and reminded him in a low voice that he had forcefully kissed her before, and that was taking advantage.

She settled old scores, and he was done with it.

In order to make her get used to sharing the same bed and remember that they were already husband and wife, he tortured her again and almost made her unable to get out of bed.

Callum smiled and said, "I like looking at you.

Wife, you are so beautiful." Camryn smiled slightly.

Callum said, "Wife, sleep a little longer.

"You should also sleep a little longer.

I see you have lost a few pounds recently."

Chapter 3050

Camryn opened her eyes and gave him a roll of her eyes.

Camryn said, "Brother Da and sister-in-law are very much in love now.

Don't think too much, so as not to affect the relationship between brother and sister-in-law." Callum chuckled.

"I know." Dalton was married, and the couple was indeed living a loving life.

Callum was completely relieved; he didn't have to worry about Camryn being snatched away.

The look in Dalton's eyes when he looked at Camryn was no longer as fierce as before and had become gentle and calm.

He really regarded Camryn as his younger sister.

He came closer, kissed Camryn's cheek, and said softly, "Wife, you can sleep a little longer; I will go for a run and come back to make breakfast for you.

I will personally cook breakfast for you." Camryn said, "Tatum's cooking is more delicious.

When you come back from your morning run, maybe Tatum will have prepared breakfast for everyone."

Callum smiled and said, "You can have breakfast at my uncle's place if you want.

Then I'll go over quickly and see if Tatum is up.

Let him do more.

Let's go to my uncle's place to have breakfast.

It seems that Tatum is going to Annenburg in the province." Hearing this, Camryn turned around and stopped sleeping.

She asked curiously, "Why did Tatum go to such a far place? Is he on a business trip?" Callum said,

"He said that he wanted to be someone else's personal chef.

He said that the family was very picky, and he wanted to give it a try to verify whether his cooking skills were up to par." Camryn: "Do his cooking skills still need to be verified? You brothers were all trained by Grandma.

Serenity said that except for Rowan, who is a little bit behind, you guys are all very good at cooking."

Grandma was the one who ate all the delicacies in the world.

The elderly were in charge of training the York family's nine sons.

They cooked from time to time for their grandma.

If grandma couldn't eat it, it meant that their cooking skills were not good and they needed to work hard to learn.

Only if they could make Grandma eat it and like it, could they pass the test.

This was what Serenity told Camryn.

Camryn entered York's family later than Serenity, and she was blind before.

Callum was worried about her inferiority complex and did not dare tell her too much about the excellence of her brothers.

Callum said, "I only found out after listening to my aunt's advice to Tatum.

My aunt was reluctant to let him go so far, but my uncle supported him.

For this reason, my aunt even ran to my eldest brother's house to stay for one night in anger.

It's not difficult to understand.

We are nine brothers.

Although all of them are good at cooking, the one who likes cooking the most is Tatum.

The ones who cook the best are Brother Kevin and Tatum." "You are persistent and crazy about one thing.

When you have the opportunity to test your ability, you will do it regardless of the cost." Tatum went to Annenburg in the province.

They all believed in Grandma's vision and believed that Grandma would not cheat them.

Tatum would not dare be careless about a life-long event.

Tatum probably won't be that fast.

He just started to get involved in the business world.

After he has practiced for a few years, Grandma will worry about him."
