Chapter 2235

The storm of the night passed quickly.

Early the next morning, Longhu Mountain was already bustling with people.

Because today is the official start of the martial arts competition.

Both contestants and spectators came in droves.

A grand ceremony like this, which had never happened before in Longhu Mountain, had already spread throughout the world.

All major sects and forces have basically arrived.

Even if you don't participate in the competition, just watching the excitement is hugely attractive.

Because everyone knows that this game is full of talents and is rare to see in a century.

If you miss this opportunity, there will be no next time.

The martial arts competition at Longhu Mountain lasted for five days in total.

In the first three days, players from Group C and Group B competed. Among the many elites, after multiple rounds of elimination, the most powerful ones were selected and then joined Group A to compete with the geniuses of Group A.

The fourth day is the battle for the top 32 to advance to the quarterfinals.

On the fifth day, it was the battle between the semi-finals and the final.

It is worth mentioning that the promotion quotas for Group C and Group B are very limited and are determined based on the number of people in Group A.

To put it simply, the number of players who advance from the BC two groups and the players from Group A must be thirty-two.

If there are more than 20 players in Group A, then there will be less than ten promotion places left for the BC Group.

You have to fight your way out of thousands of contestants and become the last ten people.

One can imagine how difficult it is.

After all, the contestants who can compete all start in an innate state, and almost no one is weak.

Many warriors are called geniuses in their own territory.

But here, geniuses are everywhere and there is no difference.

This is like those elite students who work hard and are among the best in their own schools, and they are the academic champions that attract everyone's attention.

But when they finally get into a prestigious university, they realize that they are just ordinary people with nothing to be proud of.

Because they are surrounded by academic masters, elites selected from all over the world.

This is a very cruel reality, and at the same time, it is also a motivation that can make people work hard.

At this moment, on Longhu Mountain, in the auditorium.

Dustin, Yan Buqi and their group had already taken their seats early and occupied their seats.

As contestants, they can use their number plates to enter the viewing area to rest in advance.

Otherwise, once the audience officially enters the venue, they won't even have a place to sit and will have to stand and watch.

After all, there were so many spectators on this mountaineering trip, it was a sea of people.

In order to maintain law and order, not only the disciples of Longhu Mountain were dispatched, but the government also sent troops to guard the area.

Big scenes like this are very rare.
