Chapter 1231 "Could it be that those Florencians have already admitted defeat?" Richard could not come to a definite conclusion.

"Whatever!" A cold and stern expression flashed across his face that had enchanted thousands of young girls, and he muttered to himself, "I'll deal with them using the blind boxes tomorrow!"

"If they still don't see reason, then don't blame me for being ruthless..." The next day, surrounded by numerous servants and guards, Richard arrived at his exclusive VIP room.

From his elevated position, he scanned the area and saw Andrius casually sitting at table 83. Strangely, he was the only one present from the trio yesterday. The other two were not here.

Richard could not help but frown. "Ladies and gentlemen..." Just then, the auction house owner, Fierde, slowly walked up to the stage. He looked around.

There were many empty seats today, but a lot of people still came presumably to witness the showdown between the unfamiliar Florencian and Richard.

Richard and Andrius had both arrived. Fierde announced loudly, "Since the two gentlemen are here, then according to the agreement made yesterday..."

Before he could finish, Richard said teasingly, "Florencian, it's time to bring out your cash and showcase your financial power as a World Bank black cardholder."

He had already confirmed that the plane from Florence was still firmly parked at the border. Andrius had no valuable items on hand, so he did not have the cash at all.

Thus, Richard made his move right away.

Andrius had anticipated this scene and said calmly, "The journey from Florence to Flandom is a long one. The mountains are high, and the road is far. Just give me half an hour, and my money will arrive. Mr. Fierde and Sir Richard, you wouldn't deny me this half-hour, right?"

Andrius' words left no room for criticism.

"Sure!" Richard was confident that Andrius would not get the money and said sinisterly, "I'll give you another half an hour. However, if your money doesn't arrive within that half-hour, then the first two blind boxes you bid for will belong to me!"

Richard was very happy to easily obtain the blind boxes.

Chapter 1231

272 Andrius glanced at his phone and said casually, "No problem." An agreement was reached, and the auction was put on hold.

Half an hour soon passed. However, nothing happened. The plane filled with cash was still parked at the border. Andrius did not receive the cash.

"Florencian..." Richard said gleefully, "Sorry, but half an hour has passed, and your money hasn't arrived yet..."

Richard and Fierde were just about to refute but suddenly heard a commotion from outside.

Rumble...

The large movement seemed to make the ground itself shake.

Everyone in the auction hall, including Richard and Fierde, was stunned and immediately looked in the direction of the sound.

Then, they were all dumbfounded.

Chapter 1232

A line of trucks slowly pulled up to the parking lot outside the auction house,

It was Noir and the Arctic Fox Mercenary Corps, transporting countless gold and silver jewels. Time was of the essence, so the trucks were not tightly packed. The jewels on top sparkled, almost forcing everyone to squint.

These trucks provided the most stunning illustration of splendid and dazzling jewels. Silence.

The scene was deathly silent.

Everyone was stunned by the jewels in the trucks, their jaws dropping to the ground. “Andy, did I make it in time?” Noir jumped down from the first truck and asked with a grin.

“Good job.” Andrius flashed him a grin, then looked at the person on the stage. “Mr. Fierde, my cash was delayed on the way here. These gold, silver, and gems should be fine to use as collateral, right?”

Fierde’s lips twitched violently.

It was not just ‘fine’. Each one of these trucks was carrying who—knows—how—many billions in value.

He was able to tell that much.

However, he had no right to decide whether or not it was fine. It was up to Richard.

Fierde glanced over subtly.

Richard stammered, wanting to refuse but unable to find a reason to. In the end, he could only let Fierde go ahead.

“N-no problem...” Fierde answered helplessly and added in a sour tone, “They said there are many wealthy individuals hidden in Florence. My eyes have truly been opened today.”

Andrius did not have time for nonsense and asked, “Since everything is in place, can we continue with the bidding for the third blind box?”

“Of course.” Richard had no way to refute, so Fierde could only follow the script.

“I announce that the bidding for the third blind box begins now. As usual, the starting price is 2 billion, with each increment not less than 50 million.”

However, the moment he announced the start of the bidding, the result was already predetermined.

“I’ll buy it. 10 billion!” Andrius spoke with overwhelming dominance.

Richard did not even have the intention to bid and left in a huff.

“Damn it... I’ll make you regret it sooner or later, Florencian!” He glared at Andrius with resentment Chapter 1232 and left with his entourage.

“Mr. Fierde...” Andrius said with a smile, “Shouldn’t you announce the ownership of the third blind box?”

“Well...” Helpless, Fierde announced, “The third blind box also belongs to you!”

“Andy...” Noir asked eagerly, “Now that things are settled here, what should we do about the hijacked plane?”

Bam!

Chapter 1233

Crash!

Bang-

Richard could not help but explode as soon as he returned.

The teacups and teapots on the coffee table, along with the entire table itself, were overturned and crashed to the ground, making a loud noise. The valuable ceramic was instantly shattered into pieces.

The scene was a chaotic mess.

The ladies now were different from the ones from before. At that moment, they were kneeling on the ground, their smooth foreheads pressed tightly against the cold floor, not daring to breathe.

The servants and guards also lowered their heads deeply, silent as a grave.

"Goddammit! Damn that Florencian! He's just a filthy shit that should be ground into powder and thrown into the sewer for the rats to eat!

"Arghhhh..." Richard cursed furiously while smashing and breaking stuff. All roads lead to Rome. Some people were born in Rome. Others made wherever they were Rome. Richard was undoubtedly the latter.

As the leader of the Knights of Death and the son of the ruler of Flandom, he was born noble and revered. No one dared to defy him.

However, this time, he had been repeatedly humiliated by Andrius. Furthermore, the embarrassing incident at the airport... This made Richard extremely irritable, and he lost control of his emotions.

At that moment, he erupted completely!

“Sir...”

Just then, a servant rushed in anxiously.

“What?” Richard snapped, the word like the arrival of early winter, making people shiver uncontrollably.

The servant lowered his head and gritted his teeth, saying, “Sir, the Florencian who bid against you at Fierde Auction House has come and is now outside the main camp.”

After speaking, he immediately lowered his head, not daring to look up to see Richard’s reaction. Boom Adeafening roar came. Richard, in his anger, directly smashed the precious wooden table into pieces, sending fragments scattering everywhere.

Chapter 1233 212 Everyone present trembled.

“What is he here for?” Richard’s expression was gloomy as he roared, “I haven’t even found him yet, but he dares to come looking for me... He’s asking for death!”

After a furious vent, Richard stormed out angrily to find Andrius.

At the gate, he almost collided with someone head-on. It was Andrius wearing a mask.

“Florencian, this is the camp of the Knights of Death. It’s the most important base in Florence. Outsiders are not allowed here. What are you doing here? What do you want?” Richard glanced at the familiar mask on Andrius’ face and was instantly furious. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

After saying that, he took off his face and revealed his true face. He had to reveal his identity for the search to be justified. Andrius did not care about Richard's reaction and was about to barge into the camp.

"Impudent!" Richard suddenly shouted, his nostrils flaring.

As the son of Alexander, the person in charge of Flandom, it was always him searching others but never others searching his territory!

"Florentian, you're looking for death! I don't care if you're the Wolf King of Florence. I won't allow it!"

As he roared, Richard swung his palm at Andrius.

Chapter 1434 1/2 Chapter 1234

Richard had long lost his rationality after several humiliations. If it were normal circumstances, no one would dare to retaliate when Richard took action.

However, he chose the wrong opponent this time.

Andrius would not tolerate him.

Smack!

Richard's movement was extremely fast and abrupt, but in Andrius' eyes, it was as slow as a slow-motion scene. After all, his reaction speed was seven times that of a normal person!

A simple and crisp slap resounded loudly on Richard's face.

"Arghhh..."

Richard, being slapped for the first time in his life, exploded on the spot. He lunged at Andrius without caring about anything else. It was as if Andrius was more hateful than if he had killed Richard's father, stolen his wife, and beaten his son up.

Andrius smirked slightly, and two lightning-fast slaps followed.

Smack! Smack!

It was the same strength and the same loud sound.

Richard was immediately swatted away and crashed into the door frame behind.

"Ahhh..." Richard was furious, his face twisting as he roared, "Where is the knights' brigade? Get out here and kill this Florencian! Kill him! Kill him now!"

At his furious voice...

Rumble...

71

The sound of crisp horse hooves immediately came from the camp.

In the blink of an eye, waves of fully armed elite knights rushed from various directions, seemingly about to drown Andrius out.

"How dare a bunch of clowns dare to be insolent in front of the Lycantroops!"

Just then, a loud voice came.

Then, a group of people led by dozens of burly men arrived. Although the men were not as robust as Flandonians, each one exuded a formidable aura like a bottomless abyss.

Just the sound of their march made it clear that they were a battle-hardened and invincible force, an unbeatable army! No one could match their might, and no one could withstand their sharpness.

Chapter 1234 2/2 It was Noir leading the Lycantroops elites.

That was because this was the first time he was humiliated! No, in the airport, he was also humiliated by an opponent from the Lycantroops!

“The Lycantroops?” Richard's nose seemed to spew out smoke, and he roared hysterically, “Even if the emperor of Florence himself comes, he can't search my camp! Knights, obey my order and crush them! I'll take responsibility for everything!” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

At that moment, Richard was like an enraged lion. He had lost all reason.

“Heh...” Noir grinned, his sharp eyes scanning the surroundings with disdain. “Bring it on, then. I also want to see if the world-renowned Knights of Death just has an impressive name!” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Whoosh!

With Noir's words, the Lycantroops elites behind him stepped forward in unison.

Although they were only a few dozen people, their overwhelming momentum was like a sharp sword piercing the sky. “Good. Very good!”

At that moment, Richard's emotions were turbulent, each wave carrying boundless anger. His eyes were filled with intense flames.

“Lycantroops...”

Chapter 1235

“Since you dare to come to the doorstep of the Knights of Death, it'll be a disgrace to Flandom if I don't take action. We'll be a laughingstock for the whole world!”

With that, Richard raised the long sword in his hand and no longer hesitated. “Knights of Death, attack and fight to the death! Break their formation! Charge-”

Rumble...

The knights' horses whinnied and pawed the ground with their front paws in preparation.

Noir saw this and smiled faintly. The Lycantroops behind him were also waiting in anticipation. A large battle was about to happen.

“Stop!”

A powerful and imposing voice suddenly echoed throughout the scene.

Both sides were momentarily stunned and looked over.

A figure slowly walked toward them. The person was in his fifties with a few white strands on his forehead. However, the dignified air around him needed no explanation. It was clear that he was a figure in a high position.

It was none other than Richard's father, Alexander, the current ruler of Flandom and a five-star general. “Wolf King, my apologies...” Alexander said to Andrius when he approached. Wolf King!

Richard asked doubtfully, “Father, shouldn't the Wolf King be participating in the military exchange in the main camp? Did you get the wrong person?”

Richard was unwilling to believe it.

If Andrius really was the Wolf King of Florence, then he had no way of regaining his dignity this time. He would have taken those slaps earlier for nothing!

“The Wolf King is unparalleled. Do you think I'd mistake anyone else for him?” Alexander glared at Richard and scolded him. It was clear that he had confirmed Andrius' identity.

“The Wolf King...”

Richard's expression changed constantly from shock to anger. He was shocked because, over the past few days, the one who repeatedly opposed him turned out to be the Wolf King of Florence.

After all, as Alexander's son, his authority in Flandom had no equal. He no longer had anything he lacked.

Chapter 1235

2/2 The only one who surpassed him and was more prestigious than him was the Wolf King! He was angry because reality was so cruel. He was defeated several times by the Wolf King and lost all his dignity.

“But...” Richard glared at Andrius and gritted his teeth. “Father, even if he’s the Wolf King, I won’t allow him to enter the camp and search my Knights of Death.”

Andrius wanted to search the camp of the Knights of Death? Alexander could not help but frown upon hearing this, finding it inappropriate as well.

Then, he looked at Andrius and said tactfully, “Respected Wolf King, the Knights of Death is a crucial place for Flandom. It will greatly damage our reputation if you conduct a search.” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel Andrius looked at Alexander and said calmly, “Five-star General, a special transport plane from Florence was hijacked and stopped in Flandom’s territory, with the crew missing. “Please think carefully and don’t say I didn’t warn you!” Andrius erupted with an aura that seemed to reach the sky, like the enduring Arbeis in Flandom, distant and unattainable.

Chapter 1236 Rumble- Just as Andrius finished speaking, Noir and the dozens of elite Lycantroops soldiers behind him all released their auras.

They were all heavy as a mountain. When they converged together, they were capable of shaking the heavens and earth, and even the universe!

Their auras continuously struck Alexander's nerves. His expression remained indifferent, but various thoughts were already brewing in his mind as he weighed the pros and cons.

Now was the most critical moment for his family's century-old plan. There was no room for error. Otherwise, the hundred years of foundation and planning would be destroyed in an instant.

If that happened, he would become the sinner of the family. "Wolf King!"

While Alexander was contemplating, Richard was infuriated by Andrius' imposing aura and said rudely, "This is Flandom, not Florence!"

"The camp of the Knights of Death isn't someplace you can search whenever you want. Do you really think that I..." Before he could finish, Alexander interrupted with a loud shout, "Shut up!"

Richard saw the furious expression on his father's face and choked on his words. He reluctantly stepped back and lowered his head, the fierce light in his eyes overshadowing everything.

"Wolf King..." Alexander said apologetically, "I'm very sorry about the hijacking and emergency landing of Florence's transport plane in Flandom."

"Since you have already found some preliminary clues, I can agree to let you and the Lycantroops enter for a search. I hope that you'll soon find the crew members and ensure the safety of the lives and assets of Florencians in Flandom."

That was the decision that Alexander had to make.

The only harm in letting Andrius search was the loss of his dignity. However, once their plan succeeded, the family would rise to dominance. Who would dare to say anything about them then?

In the end, the family plans and interest took precedence over everything.

"Father..." Richard bit his lip until it bled, speaking with hatred. He was anxious and wanted to stop everything from happening. However, before he could speak, Alexander shot him a chilling look. "Shut up!"

Chapter 1236

to Andrius,

"No need," Andrius calmly refused.

Flandonians were known for their hypocrisy. Andrius could not be bothered by them. Alexander's face stiffened, but he did not say much.

After a short wait, Richard grew restless, but Andrius remained calm.

"Andy"

Noir came out before long.

Beside him was the deputy commander of the Knights of Death, looking dejected with a dark face.

Chapter 1237

Behind him were the indignant and rescued crew members from Florence. Among them were several who were limping with bandages on their hands and legs. They were obviously injured by the Knights of Death during their resistance.

Seeing this scene, Alexander could not help but frown tightly, and Richard's face turned pale.

“Wolf King!”

“Thank you for saving us, Wolf King!”

“I knew that the Wolf King wouldn't ignore us. I knew that he'd save us!”

The crew members thanked Andrius excitedly.

Andrius nodded in acknowledgment. However, when he saw the injuries on them, his expression instantly sank. Smack!

Aloud slap struck Richard's face without mercy.

The immense force sent Richard spinning like a top. When he got up, his face was swollen, and he felt dizzy, unable to stand steadily.

“You... I'll kill you!” Richard roared furiously. “Insolence!”

Alexander did not want his son to be beaten up, but now was not the appropriate time to stir up trouble, especially when Andrius had the upper hand. They had to compromise.

His cold eyes suppressed boundless anger as he ordered sternly, “Come here and apologize to the Wolf King and the crew members!”

“No!” Richard's face was crooked as he ground his teeth. “Father, he slapped my face, which is the equivalent of slapping your face! I can't apologize to him!”

3 As he spoke, he glared at Andrius like a raging bull, breathing heavily.

“You good-for—nothing!” Alexander could not stand it anymore and slapped Richard hard. “You abused your authority and stopped a plane from Florence. This is a serious crime that's enough to have you imprisoned! If you don't repent, don't blame me for being ruthless as your father!”

Alexander had no other choice. He could not openly confront the Lycantroops and Florence, so he had to put on a show for Andrius.

The slap was already quite light.

With Alexander's stern voice and icy threat, Richard finally realized the seriousness of the problem and became a bit more sober. Chapter 1237

“Father, I...” Richard panted heavily, compromised, and walked up to Andrius, glaring at him resentfully. “I’m sorry!”

Then, he looked at the Florence crew members. “I’m sorry!”

Chapter 1238

“It's all your fault!” Alexander glared at him and snorted, “How many times have I told you? It’s a critical period now, so don’t cause trouble!”

“The Wolf King is famous for his arrogance. He won't tolerate any opposition. Richard, oh Richard, why did you provoke that bastard Wolf King?”

“Do you know that your impulsive actions might have involved the Lycantroops and ruined the family's century—long plan? If that happened, both you and I would become the sinners of the family!”

If Richard were not his son, Alexander would have wanted to chop him up.

It was like a rat going up to a cat—finding trouble for no reason!

“But...” Richard was indignant and argued, “Father, you saw with your own eyes how arrogant the Wolf King was! “This is Flandom, not Florence. How can he act recklessly here?”

“Besides, I didn't provoke him for no reason. I found out that the woman accompanying him, the one who always wears a cat—face mask, is Margerina's sister, Katalina!

“Furthermore, they bought Margerina at the auction. This indicates that the Lycantroops are already involved.

“Once that bitch Margerina spills the beans to the Wolf King, we'll be in a passive position. What do we do then?”

Alexander fell silent.

Yes, the Wolf King should have already seen through the family's plan. Even if he had not, once Margerina spoke up, their plan would likely face numerous obstacles. That was not good news.

“This is a critical period. Not even I can make decisions on my own.” After a moment of contemplation, Alexander said solemnly, “Let's go. Come with me to see our elder and see what he thinks.”

“Yes.”

Inside the deepest secret room in Moore Manor.

“Elder...” Alexander brought Richard and reported everything in detail respectfully, then asked, “What should we do now?”

Even Lloyd had to be cautious.

Tap! Tap!

Chapter 1239 Withered fingers gently drummed the stone table, producing a crisp sound.

After a moment, Lloyd narrowed his eyes, a cold glint flickering inside. “The family’s plan must not fail! Since the Wolf King already knows, then kill him!”

As soon as those words were spoken, the temperature in the secret room dropped several degrees, as if going from midsummer to deep winter in an instant.

Richard was instantly overjoyed upon hearing this. The elder wanted to kill Andrius, so Andrius would undoubtedly die!

Alexander looked surprised and asked, “Elder, the Wolf King is in Flandom for official business. I’m afraid it’ll raise questions from the Florence government... Even if they don’t declare war, it will inevitably lead to various suspicions...”

Lloyd glanced at him and said indifferently, “That’s why we cannot be involved in this matter. It must be done by someone else’s hands.”

Alexander was stunned and asked, “Elder, you mean we’ll hire someone to kill him? However, the Wolf King is extremely powerful, and ordinary people are not his match. Not only will it be difficult to succeed, but it’ll also alert him to our intentions. How are we supposed to kill him?”

It was not that Alexander lacked ambition and was diminishing his own prestige. Instead, he simply that he knew Andrius’s capabilities.

“That’s simple.” Lloyd’s sunken eyes flashed with a hint of sharpness, and he gestured to Alexander with his eyes. Alexander immediately leaned over. After Lloyd whispered a few words, he was struck by a realization. “Remember, only the two of us know about this matter. There must be no accidents!” Lloyd gave a few more instructions.

“Don't worry, Elder!” Alexander assured, “This matter involves the family’s plan. I'll personally handle it and make sure nothing goes wrong. The Wolf King is sure to die!”

Lloyd nodded. “Go.”

“Yes!”

Alexander helped Richard out of the secret room.

A plot surrounding Andrius began to unfold.

Andrius brought the Lycantroops back to the hotel they checked into. Noir brought the three blind boxes, Margerina, and Katalina back. Chapter 1239

Andrius glanced at her for a moment and looked away.

The current Margerina was already on the verge of death.

“Hm?” Andrius held her fair wrist and frowned. “She’s poisoned, and it's an extremely rare and potent toxin!”

These two people needed to get their eyes checked!

Chapter 1240

Swoosh...

Andrius took out a silver needle and began treating Margerina.

Although the poison in her body was terrible, it was relatively simple compared to the various toxins in Florence. Silver lights flickered as the needles were inserted into her body.

One after another, they formed a winding dragon on Margerina's body.

Andrius flicked the needles with his fingertips lightly, producing a buzzing sound, and black smoke emanated from the tip of the dragon's head.

Margerina's complexion gradually changed from pale to rosy at a speed visible to the naked eye.

"Ark..."

After a moment, Margerina opened her eyes and spewed out a mouthful of black blood, expelling all the toxins from her body. "Margerina! My sister, you're finally awake!"

Seeing this, Katalina rushed forward and threw herself into Margerina's arms.

Upon seeing Katalina approaching, Margerina could not help but embrace her emotionally. "Oh, Katalina, my dear sister..."

Ever since Alexander launched the coup and captured Margerina, she had given up hope of reuniting with Katalina ever again. Unexpectedly, she was saved and could see her sister again.

What a wonderful feeling!

“This is great... Katalina, I thought that...”

“Don't say it, Margerina. Everything will be okay!” The two sisters hugged each other and cried. “Oh...”

After a while, Katalina suddenly recalled something and brought Margerina to Andrius, introducing, “This is the Wolf King of Florence. He was the one who saved me and rescued you from Richard's clutches. He also treated the poison in your body. He's our savior!”

Margerina looked at Andrius. Then, after exchanging a glance with Katalina, she suddenly knelt in front of Andrius.

“Wolf King, thank you for saving our lives. We can never repay you enough, but we will do our best even if it means becoming your servant or your slave!”

Becoming a servant or slave...

Andrius could not help but feel embarrassed.

Katalina might end up with Noir in the future. What kind of situation was this?

“Get up.” Andrius used inner energy to lift the two girls and said nonchalantly, “You've also helped me a great deal, so don't worry about it.”

Noir readily agreed. “Nothing will go wrong with me here, Andy!” Andrius nodded and returned to his own room where Old Hagstorm was already waiting. “Andrius, I bet you can’t wait any longer.” Old Hagstorm laughed and opened the three blind boxes.

In the third box was a unique medicinal plant. It was shaped like a lotus and had seven bizarrely fiery red petals, representing its extreme heat attribute.

This was the Dragon Flame Lotus! The second box had a ginseng larger than the wild ginseng king that Andrius had obtained long ago. Just by how it looked, it was clear that it was more valuable than the wild ginseng king.

The first blind box had an almost transparent wax—like substance that emitted a faint fragrance. It was the legendary Gold Essence Ambergris!

Although the ginseng and the Gold Essence Ambergris were slightly inferior to the Dragon Flame Lotus, they were still extremely precious medicinal materials. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Andrius could not help but breathe a sigh of relief. The auction house indeed played some tricks.

If he had not bid for the third box, it would have been futile with only the two boxes.
