Chapter 1336

Chapter 1336 The demon emperor...

He was a peerless powerhouse from a thousand years ago who transcended the martial realm. That meant he was invincible in the current era!

If the Insect Ruler resurrected him, the consequences would be unimaginable. "No!"

After pondering for a moment, Andrius said to Old Hagstorm, "Master, the Insect Ruler's ambitions are too great. We should return to Florence soon and stop his plot."

The only method he could think of to stop the Insect Ruler was to learn the technique depicted on the mural and reach the legendary realm.

Old Hagstorm nodded. "Do what you need to do."

After leaving Praxis Island, Andrius returned to the capital of Flandom and met Noir and the others at the palace. During this period, Noir had been helping Katalina stabilize the turbulent situation in Flandom.

As for Margerina...

She was already weakened and lost too much blood, so she passed away shortly after pulling out the King's Scepter.

"Wolf King!"

"Andy!"

Noir and Katalina were overjoyed to see Andrius and asked in concern, "How are your injuries?"

"They're mostly healed." Andrius replied, then said, "Noir, although we won the competition on Praxis, the Insect Ruler didn't lose. | must return to Florence immediately to stop his scheme.” Noir’s mood instantly plummeted at the mention of going back. He subconsciously glanced at Katalina but said nothing.

Andrius could tell that the man had found true love.

Thus, he went forward and patted Noir’s shoulder, smiling, “Noir, you must be tired of following me for so long. Just stay in Flandom and take a break. Think of it as a vacation.”

Noir was reluctant to leave Katalina, but he did not want to leave Andrius either. He said hesitantly, Andy, |..”

Andrius interrupted his words and gestured to Katalina beside him with a teasing look. “You finally found your true love, so remember to cherish it.”

Then, he patted Noir’s shoulder and left the palace.

Noir looked at Andrius’ back, at a loss for words.

“Noir...” Katalina wanted to speak, but when her tempting lips opened, she did not know what to say.

During this time with Noir, the word she heard him mention the most was ‘Andy’. She naturally knew how important Andrius was to him.

When it was time to choose, she would not insist on him staying. Night fell. The sea breeze brought a unique salty chill.

“Noir?”

Andrius looked at him in surprise and then glanced behind him, finding it empty.

It was clear that Noir came alone.

Thus, he smiled and asked, “Why are you here? Aren’t you spending more time with your queen?” “Hehe...” Noir scratched his head and said honestly, “Stop teasing me, Andy.

“I told you, dead or alive, I belong to the Lycantroops. There’s an upheaval in Florence, and the Insect Ruler has been plotting for many years. Once he acts, it’ll surely sweep across Florence. How can I linger in a foreign land for the sake of my feelings for a woman?”

The statement was eloquent and flawless.

Andrius jokingly teased, “So, are you willing to leave behind your beautiful queen? I was thinking that I’d be able to hold a Noir Jr. the next time I come!”

At those words, Noir blushed uncharacteristically. “Andy...”

He glared at Andrius and said, “I’ve already made an agreement with Katalina. I’ll come back for her once the situation in Florence stabilizes.”

They were not parting forever.

They were just awaiting their next reunion!

At this moment, Noir's heart was full of fantasies about the future

Such was the nature of people in love...

"Then, let's go." Andrius did not interfere with Noir's decision, patted his back, and boarded the plane first. Noir nodded and followed.

However, just as he was about to board the cabin, he could not help but look back. Lights shone brightly in the airport at night, but he could not find that figure. However, he believed.

The sun of Flandom would also shine on Florence.

The sea breeze would carry dreams to Florence.

Noir turned his head decisively and sat in the seat belonging to him as the Wolf King's personal guard.

In the shadows of the airport.

"Noir..."

Katalina had many difficulties ahead of her. Without her father and sister, it was Noir who stayed with her through her darkest days.

Although brief, it was enough for her to remember him forever.

The attendants, maids, and others behind her approached, wanting to comfort her.

Everyone responded in unison, "Yes!"

However, Andrius' thoughts did not stop because of this. On the contrary, they became more active. The Pontiff, the dragonslayer knight, and Alexander's family....

Although they stirred up storms in Flandom, their impact on Florence was not significant.

Chapter 1338

Chapter 1338 On the contrary, the Insect Ruler gained a lot this time.

The mysterious demon emperor was also a major variable. Andrius did not believe that the Insect Ruler wanted to resurrect the demon emperor for no reason.

He had a feeling that the demon emperor was an opportunity. It was a world-changing opportunity. Of course, those were problems for later. What confused Andrius the most was the sudden appearance and departure of the master of the Shrouded Gate.

She arrived in Flandom in a grandiose manner, unlike him, who strove to achieve the final victory in Praxis to help Katalina ascend to the throne.

It was also unlike the Insect Ruler, who stirred up disputes and caused slaughter just to obtain bodies to ultimately expand his own strength.

What was her goal?

Andrius could not figure it out and asked, "Noir, did Lyeon Manor or the Hawkeye Group find any information regarding the Shrouded Gate?"

Noir's eyes also flashed in confusion at the mention of Shrouded Gate. "No. Since the Shrouded Gate killed the Swallow family's forebearer last time, they haven't made any movements in Florence."

That was strange. What was the Shrouded Gate planning?

Andrius frowned and muttered while also asking Noir, “The Shrouded Gate didn’t gain any benefits during this trip to Praxis this time.

“Why did they come all the way to Flandom from so far away? Could it be that there are still secrets we haven't discovered?” Noir was unsure either, so he fell silent.

Andrius continued to murmur, “Moreover, her behavior of killing Duncan Swallow before leaving Florence was more like a deterrent. It was a silent intimidation.

“That also means that her coming to Flandom was for a purpose. It wasn’t aimless.

“Furthermore, judging by the actions of the master of the Shrouded Gate on Praxis... She appeared several times to help and save me, even engaging in large-scale slaughter but not harming me. All of it benefits us...

‘However, I’ve never heard of the name Lumi Haldin before. Why would she risk everything and offend so many experts and forces to come and help me?’

The series of questions left, Andrius bewildered.

He did not believe that he was charming enough to have a powerhouse like the Shrouded Gate disregard everything and come to his aid with just a casual word.

“Andy, the Shrouded Gate was never heard of before, but they suddenly rose recently. Furthermore, their strength is incredibly strong. Even the Insect Ruler was easily suppressed by her, and Old Hagstorm admitted that he was no match for her. There’s probably something fishy going Noir felt some lingering fear as he recalled. Andrius also fell into contemplation. Experts grow step by step. They did not appear out of thin air.

The master of the Shrouded Gate was not an ordinary expert. Her strength was almost at its peak. How could she have remained silent and nameless all this time?

It was unreasonable.

The first possibility was that she was truly a reclusive expert to the Penn that not even DiétHagStofm ha

Noir saw Andrius lost in thought and asked, “Andy, did you figure something out?”

At that point, Andrius eyes glimmered as bright as a star. “She’s one of the women around me!”

Noir was struck by the realization and said seriously, “If that’s true, then everything makes sense. However, who could she be?”

Chapter 1339

Chapter 1339

Andrius also felt that this possibility was very likely.

The only thing that did not make sense was how she was so powerful. Furthermore, if she really was someone close to him, then who could she be? Kate?

Halle?

Luna?

If they had the strength, they would definitely come to help him, so they had the highest possibility of being the master of the Shrouded Gate.

“Who could it be..?” Andrius narrowed his eyes, already making up his mind. ‘I’ll find out when I get back!’ The journey passed in silence.

It was already early the next morning when the plane arrived at Kiyoto.

“Noir, go report the situation of the military exchange to all the relevant departments.

“Then, handle the affairs for all the members of the Arctic Fox Mercenary Corps. Those with demerits will be punished, and those with merits will be rewarded. Get them to contribute on the front lines. Everything should be done according to the standards of the Lycantroops.”

“Yes!” Noir immediately responded. “Thank you, Wolf King!” “Thank you, Wolf King!”

The Arctic Fox and the other members could not help but shed tears that they were able to join the Lycantroops after returning to their homeland. They all knelt in front of Andrius.

They had drifted abroad for many years, unable to return home. comprehend unless one experienced it oneself. Andrius did not linger and quickly left Kiyoto.

That sorrow was difficult to Andrius first went to Mount Cura..

“Andrius!” Kate was surprised to see Andrius appear. “Didn’t you go to Flandom for a military exchange? Why are you suddenly here?”

Andrius smiled and said, “The military exchange ended yesterday. I took a plane back last night to ask Sect Master Klein about something.”

Kate smiled wryly. “You came at an unfortunate time. Grandpa is still in seclusion.” Still in seclusion?

How much time had passed?

Andrius was speechless. Then, he said, “I’ll ask you, then.”

“Go ahead.”

“Do you know of anything that can greatly increase one’s strength in short time? I want to take Goh from the Martial King realm to a level stronger than a late-stage Martial Saint?” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Andrius stared into Kate's eyes closely as he spoke, trying to find some clues from her reaction.

“Well...” Kate was stunned for a moment and shook her head naturally. “I don’t know. Otherwise, it wouldn’t be stuck in my current realm for so long...”.

Although that was what she said, a person came to her heart. Luna! The master of the Shrouded Gate!

Kate knew about Luna’s identity and that she had gone to Flandom. She also knew that Luna’s strength greatly increased in a short period and reached a shocking level.

Coincidentally, Andrius immediately asked her this question after coming back from Flandom... It was clear that he had noticed some clues and was trying to probe her.

Andrius saw that Kate’s expression was unchanged and her yes. We’re | clear, Shecalitindbsebir to be lying, so Andrius ruled out the possibility of her being the master of the Shrouded Gate. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"I don't know if it's because they were cowed or if they're harboring some conspiracy. The entire martial world has also quieted down with no one emerging. It's eerily calm."

Andrius also felt it. As Kate said, the ancient martial world in Florence seemed strangely peaceful.

"Kate..." Andrius sighed and said seriously, "I'm afraid that there's a surging undercurrent under the calm surface. I hope the Medicine Sect will help keep an eye out. Be sure to inform me immediately if anything happens."

Kate nodded with a smile. "I will." After leaving the Medicine Sect, Andrius went straight to Sumeria.

As soon as he left, Kate immediately called Luna. "Luna, Andrius just came to me and subtly probed about the identity of Shrouded Gate's Master. He didn't say anything directly, but he definitely has some suspicions. Be careful."

"Got it," Luna answered and hung up the phone, then immediately called Halle. "Halle, my husband is starting to suspect my identity. Do you have any ideas to keep it from him?" The master of the Shrouded Gate...

Although the identity had a powerful reputation, it carried too much bloodshed. Luna did not want Andrius to see this side of her and wanted to keep it well hidden. When Andrius needed it, she would use this identity to eliminate any obstacles for him.

"You can try this." Halle quickly thought of a solution. "Get the deputy master to pretend to be you and target a martial force with moderate strength that can be easily subdued."

"During that time, you'll stay with Andrius and build your alibi. That way, you'll wash away any suspicion." Luna's eyes lit up, and she agreed decisively, "Okay, let's do that!"

Then, she called Marcellus.

Master."

Marcellus bowed respectfully. "What are your orders?"

Luna instructed, "Wear a mask identical to mine and use the techniques I taught you a few days ago. Choose a martial force and take action against them when I give the signal. Remember, imitate my appearance as closely as possible!"

After returning from Praxis, Luna taught the Shrouded Gate experts some techniques suitable for them to win their hearts and enhance their strength, making it more convenient for them to work for her.

Now, it was time to put it to practice.

"Yes!" Marcellus immediately heeded the order.

After making all the preparations, Luna waited in Dream's Waterfront for Andrius.

After an unknown amount of time, Luna, with her condensed Diving Step strength, sensed someone quietly infiltrating. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel
