

Chapter 1086 Critical Condition

Liam noticed Laura's body swelling, and he grasped the severity of the situation immediately.

He maintained a careful watch over her, monitoring her condition closely.

If Laura seemed to struggle under the immense burden of energy, Liam was ready to intervene and help her release the surplus energy.

Laura was fully aware of the danger she was in.

She understood the risks of absorbing all the beast crystals, but she had chosen this path to prevent herself from being a burden to Liam in their future challenges. She could no longer bear to watch Liam get injured to protect her.

Sadly, Laura's plan had not gone as hoped.

Her pain intensified as her condition worsened rapidly.

The energy from the beast crystals she had absorbed was now wreaking havoc on her internal organs.

Laura felt as though hordes of vile insects were consuming her inside.

Seeing the critical state Laura was in, Liam could not wait any longer. He took her hands in his own.

Then, Liam activated his devouring power.

But this time, unlike before, he didn't draw on Laura's life force. Instead, he focused all his efforts on extracting the destructive beast crystal energy that was overrunning Laura's body.

Liam aimed to help Laura and keep the energy at a manageable level so she could advance safely.

Half an hour later, Liam had successfully extracted all the excess beast crystal energy from Laura's body.

This finally stabilized Laura's condition.

Not long after, Laura's eyelids started to flutter. She slowly opened her eyes.

Laura was conscious of the ordeal she had endured and the crucial role Liam had played in saving her life.

Reflecting on her rash behavior, which had almost resulted in her death due to her failure to assimilate the beast crystal's energy, Laura felt a flush of embarrassment color her cheeks.

Despite her embarrassment, she expressed her gratitude. "Liam, thank you! Without you, I would have been in serious danger."

She knew what had happened. Without Liam's intervention to help absorb the surplus beast crystal energy, she might have faced mild consequences like losing her powers as a Primogem Warrior, or, in the worst case, she could have perished instantly.

Liam, looking serious, gave Laura a stern piece of advice. "You need to approach your training steadily and cautiously. I was here to help you this time. But what about next time? Remember, Laura, your life is yours to protect. Think carefully about the consequences of your decisions before you make them."

Liam's words were crafted for Laura's well-being, his expression and tone laden with the weight of a grave lesson.

He approached Laura with the same concern he would apply to himself, his motivations fueled by a deep-seated need to avenge his family. This desire often pushed him to act hastily.

Laura, realizing that Liam was unaware of her feelings, felt a pang of sadness and bowed her head. In a gentle voice, she offered her apology. "I didn't foresee things ending up like this. Nonetheless, Liam, thank you!"

Liam recognized Laura's lack of experience and tendency to falter when making critical choices.

Rather than placing blame, he advised her with kindness, "Just remember not to repeat this mistake. Steer clear of unpredictable risks in the future. You need to stay alive. Should anything happen to you, there would be no one left to seek justice for your grandfather!"