

Married At First Sight Chapter 3380

Married At First Sight Chapter 3380-Although being the head of the family can bring a lot of benefits compared to developing their own careers, both Liberty and Kathryn chose the latter.

The elevator took the two to the first floor.

After the two walked out of the elevator, they changed the topic to a lighter one and walked out of the office building, talking and laughing.

Kathryn stood at the entrance of the office building and watched Liberty get into the car and leave. After Liberty left, she got into her own car and left.

No one knew what the two people talked about; all they knew was that they were talking and laughing when they came out.

In winter, it gets dark quickly.

There were already lights on in every house outside, but it was so dark in the unlit areas that one could not see one's hand in front of one's face.

Kathryn went straight back to the city but did not go home. Instead, she went to meet a client according to her evening schedule.

As for her mother's sudden return, she didn't take it to heart and pretended not to know anything about it.

If her mother likes to make surprise attacks, then let her do it. She hasn't done anything wrong, so there's no need to worry about her mother making a surprise attack.

The person who should be worried, nervous, and afraid was Marco.

Marco didn't know that Clarissa had suddenly come back.

He had no social engagements tonight, and after getting off work, he returned to the villa under his name. Holden said that the ingredients had been prepared and they would have hotpot in the evening, so he asked him to bring his two younger brothers over so that father and son could have hotpot together.

The three brothers returned one after another.

None of them brought their wives.

Erika was getting a divorce and had already moved back to her parents' home. It was impossible for her to come back with Marco.

Although Noel and Sage did not get divorced, they did not want to bring their wives over. They both felt that their wives were on the side of Kathryn, and when the four of them got together, they would inevitably complain a little for fear that their wives would tell Kathryn.

Marco and his two brothers were most afraid of their mother because they had a better relationship with Holden.

Holden heard the sound of a car and came out of the house.

“dad.”

Marco parked the car, got out with some things, walked towards Holden, and said, “It’s cold; what are you doing out here? Go back inside.”

“I’m bored staying at home every day, so I go out for a walk from time to time.”

Holden’s injuries had healed, and he had returned to his normal life, except that he could no longer play with women.

“What did you buy?” Holden reached out to take the things from Marco. Seeing Noel and Sage’s cars also driving in, Holden smiled a little more.

“Dad, I bought something for you.” Marco turned his head and looked, then said, “Dad, let’s go in first. It’s cold outside, and it’s not the first time that Noel and Sage have come here.”

Holden said, “Are you all coming back by yourselves? You didn’t bring your wife, and they both came here on their own? It’s fine if you didn’t bring your wife, but you didn’t bring two of my grandchildren either. I’ll talk to Sage later. I’ll help him take care of kids from now on, so I won’t get bored at home. I can help him take the kids to and from school every day so they can relax a little bit.

“Is your mother not back yet?” Holden changed the subject and asked about Clarissa’s condition.

After he was discharged from the hospital, Clarissa refused to visit him and did not allow him to move back into the Farrell family mansion.

There was no divorce, but the relationship between husband and wife was broken.
