

Chapter 1122 The Greed Of Idris

Liam was deep in thought.

His gaze drifted between Susannah and Idris, still trying to figure out what had brought these folks together.

Something about Idris made Liam uneasy.

From what he could tell, Idris was incredibly powerful, possibly near the peak of level six.

Liam was surprised by that; he hadn't expected there to be a top-tier master among the teams entering this hidden realm.

He frowned, murmuring under his breath, "It seems that this team is not simple. Susannah seems to be the one in charge. She's definitely got some serious connections..."

Liam knew he couldn't just trust people so easily.

He had been through too much and had learned that lesson the hard way.

With that in mind, Liam made his decision to leave. He politely declined their offer. "At this point, I'd just slow you down. It's best I go my own way."

Susannah was surprised by Liam's refusal and tried to convince him to stay. "Liam, think it over. You'll die if you leave on your own. Join us, and you can leave once you're better. Doesn't that make more sense?"

But Idris wasn't having it. He sneered and snapped, "If you want to die, then go! We're not going to beg you to stay! Listen, Susannah saved your life, but you don't seem grateful at all! Instead, you throw this attitude? Get lost!"

Liam's eyebrows furrowed slightly as he heard Idris' outburst.

He realized that Idris had a point.

He wasn't the type to forget a favor.

As he mulled it over, Liam realized the only valuable thing he had now were the four drops of Universe Crystal Dew. He had nearly died fighting the Zephyr Ape to get them.

With a sigh, he pulled out one of the drops and tossed it to Idris.

"You saved my life," he said. "This is for you. Now, we're even."

Idris caught the drop without even bothering to check it.

To him, whatever Liam had was probably junk.

He scoffed, "You call this trash a gift? What a joke."

But then, as his eyes glanced at the drop in his hand, he was shocked. He hadn't expected Liam's gift to be Universe Crystal Dew—a rare and priceless substance. His eyes widened in disbelief.

Stunned, he stammered, "You... Where did you get the precious Universe Crystal Dew?"

As he spoke, a wave of greed washed over him.

His eyes raked over Liam, sizing him up.

Idris muttered under his breath, "So, he's got Universe

Crystal Dew? Since he has healed so quickly, he has got to have other treasures, too. And look at him—still wounded and weak. I could easily kill him and take everything he has."

Thinking of this, Idris was ready to kill Liam and take all his treasures.
