

Married At First Sight Chapter 3423

Married At First Sight Chapter 3423-Kathryn said, "It's true that you are a woman, but you don't look like a woman at all. There are still many girls who admire you. After knowing that you are a woman, their hearts are broken. Some of them can't get over it and can't let go of their feelings for you."

After a moment of silence, Hayden said, "I have never given them a chance, nor have I provoked them. If they want to like me, there is nothing I can do."

Hayden was cold and aloof, and she never got close to women. She was famous for this in Jensburg.

In the past, people would suspect that she was a lesbian or inhumane, so she never got close to women and didn't like girls.

Later, everyone knew that she was actually a woman. Of course, she doesn't like women, and she's not interested in them.

What she liked was male beauty.

Kathryn said, "That has nothing to do with you. We just can't control our hearts, and they always go to you. To be honest, when I first met you, I admired you very much. If you were a man, you would be the first man I admired."

Hayden smiled lightly. "I'm glad I'm not a man; otherwise, Mr. Fraser would hate me to death."

Kathryn glared at her. "You and Liberty both like to tease Pedro and me."

Hayden said, "I'm not teasing you. This is the truth. Mr. Fraser likes you and has feelings for you. Don't play dumb. Face up to your relationship with Mr. Fraser. It's not shameful. According to those rules of yours, Mr. Fraser can only be attracted to you. If he wants to have a wife, you are his only choice."

Kathryn was not stupid, so she knew Pedro's feelings for her.

She didn't resist Pedro, either.

She also told Liberty that when she left the Farrell family, she only wanted to take Pedro with her.

Both publicly and privately, she couldn't bear to part with Pedro.

Kathryn said, “Miss Queen, to be honest, our Farrell family will soon change owners. Right now, I don’t have the energy to think about love. I’ll talk about it after everything is settled. Anyway, Pedro belongs to me for the rest of his life.”

Hayden didn’t ask further, as that was the Farrell family’s business.

Although Hayden stood by Liberty’s side, when she was not needed, she remained silent and did not take sides.

“Mr. Fraser is very good. Having him is like having the whole world.”

Hayden admired Pedro, but Pedro’s identity could not be taken away. No matter whether Kathryn could take over the position of head of the family, from the moment he came to know her, he would be loyal to her for the rest of his life.

To put it bluntly, if Kathryn had no ability to make money, Pedro would have to make money to support Kathryn.

This is what Hayden and Liberty often said: if Pedro wanted to love someone, he could only love Kathryn; he had no other choice.

“I originally wanted to bring you and my brother, Hugh, together. But Hugh was not that lucky.”

When talking about Hugh, Hayden felt very disappointed with him.

Hugh had so many female confidantes, but none of them could compare to Kathryn.

Kathryn smiled. “I had a crush on you at first, but then I realized that although you treated me as an exception, you didn’t have any love for me, so I didn’t dare to think about it anymore. Besides, you are the head of the Queen family; how could you invite me to your home? Mr. Hugh is also very good. He has a lot of confidantes around him. As long as he wants to get married, anyone he picks won’t be too bad. If she is too bad, he won’t consider her his confidante.”

Hugh didn’t play with people’s feelings. He was a true confidant and a friend to those confidants. If the other person has feelings for him, that is their business. He cannot control the love that others have for him.

However, if he knows that his confidante has developed romantic feelings for him, he will distance himself from her unless he wants to develop feelings for her. That hasn’t happened yet.

With a boyfriend’s confidant, Hugh would take the initiative to keep a distance to avoid making the boyfriend jealous. He was very clear-headed among a group of women, so clear-headed that many of his confidantes felt mixed feelings of love and hate.

“I’ve said it countless times: Hugh just won’t get married.” Hayden spread her hands helplessly; there was nothing she could do about Hugh.

“Ring, ring, ring.”

While the two were talking, Kathryn’s cell phone rang. She looked at the caller ID and said to Hayden, “Miss Queen, maybe I can’t treat you to dinner. I have to go back. My mother called.”

Married At First Sight Chapter 3424-Hayden smiled and said, “There is a long way to go; there are plenty of opportunities.”

After a pause, she said, “It would actually be better if you didn’t have the status of the Farrell family’s successor.”

For Kathryn, the identity of the successor of the Farrell family was like carrying a mountain on her back, so heavy that it made her breathless.

Kathryn also smiled but did not respond and answered the call from her mother.

Clarissa: “Kathryn, come back; I have something to tell you.”

Kathryn: “Okay, mom.”

After Kathryn agreed, Clarissa hung up the phone.

Putting the phone back into her trouser pocket, Kathryn picked up the coffee and finished drinking it. After putting the cup down, she stood up and said to Hayden apologetically, “I’ll treat you to dinner another day.”

Hayden stood up and walked her out. She walked Kathryn all the way to the first floor and watched her get into the car before she walked towards her own car.

Her parents were waiting for her to come back home for dinner.

Kevin had already gone there and cooked the food himself. Every time he went to Hayden’s house, he would take away her chef’s job. The chef had no sense of crisis and humbly asked Kevin for cooking advice.

After getting in the car, Hayden called Hugh. When he answered the phone, she said coldly, “Go home for dinner.”

Hugh said, “Sister, I’m eating and hanging out with friends outside, so I won’t go back.”

Hayden didn’t say anything and hung up the phone.

Hugh over there: "..."

After finally waiting for his sister and future brother-in-law to return from their trip, Hugh took a vacation and made dinner plans with all his close female friends and his closest friends.

Everyone was having a great time and enjoying the meal.

His sister called him; will he go back or not?

After eating half-full, Hugh finally decided to go home.

He said to everyone, "My sister asked me to go home, so I have to go first. You guys can eat slowly. If you want to eat or drink anything, just order it. Today's meal is my treat. I'll tell the manager to put it on my account."

"Miss Queen asked you to go back, so just go back quickly. We will eat slowly."
Everyone asked Hugh to go home.

Young Master Queen, oh, now it's Miss Queen; she is not easy to mess with and very cold.

When that sharp and cold gaze swept over them, they all felt cold all over.

Hugh was easy to get along with.

Born of the same mother, they were twins—a boy and a girl—and their personalities were so different.

Hugh picked up the car keys and went out.

Soon, a girl followed.

"Hugh."

When Hugh heard the shouting, he stopped and turned around. It was one of his confidantes.

"Simone, what's wrong?" Hugh smiled as Simone walked up to him.

Simone reminded him, "You just had a drink. Don't drive back by yourself; either call a designated driver, or I'll take you back."

Hugh stopped laughing, but his eyes were more gentle when he looked at Simone. He said, "I didn't drink much, just two sips. I wanted to drink with everyone and sleep in the hotel for a day, but my sister asked me to go back."

He invited everyone to dinner, naturally, at their hotel.

When they got drunk, they could just rest in the hotel, which was very convenient.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3425-Simone said, "You didn't drink much, but you still drank alcohol, and it was strong liquor, which is considered drunk driving. For safety reasons, you should call a designated driver. If you don't want me to take you home, it's okay. It's your own hotel, and anyone can drive you home."

Most of the hotel staff could drive.

After thinking about it, Hugh said, "Okay, I'll ask someone to take me back, and I won't drive myself. You haven't eaten much, so you probably aren't full yet. Let's go back and eat."

Simone smiled and said, "I don't have a big appetite. I'm already about 60% full. It doesn't matter whether I eat or not. I just like to get together with my sisters. Are you just going to take a break today?"

Hugh nodded. "My sister just came back; I can rest for a while, and then I will be exhausted like a dog."

Before the sparks between Hayden and Kevin started to fly, Hugh, the second young master Queen, was very relaxed.

Hayden carried all the heavy burdens.

After Kevin pursued Hayden, the two of them talked about marriage. Hayden would get married sooner or later. Queen Enterprise was Hugh's burden, and he couldn't push it away even if he wanted to. He would be exhausted.

Simone said, "The New Year is coming soon, so we can relax and enjoy it."

Hugh looked at her and asked her, "Where are you going for the New Year?"

Simone asked, "Not yet. What about you? Where are you planning to go?"

"Let's go to Wiltspoon. Do you want to go to Wiltspoon? It's much warmer there. Even on the coldest days, the temperature is higher than our highest temperature in winter."

Simone thought for a moment and said, "Going to such a far place by yourself, you are unfamiliar with the place."

"My brother-in-law's hometown is Wiltspoon. So just contact me, and I'll take you around. I can walk around freely in Wiltspoon."

Simone burst out laughing and said, "Okay, then I won't be polite with you. Go back quickly, or your sister will be unhappy."

"We'll meet again sometime." Hugh waved to Simone, said goodbye, and turned to walk out. At the same time, he also told the lobby manager to take him home.

Simone heard his conversation with the lobby manager and saw that he really did not drive himself. The lobby manager drove his car and took him home. Simone then returned to the private room and continued to eat, drink, and chat with the friends.

On the way home, Hugh suddenly asked the lobby manager, "Manager Dumont, a girl is worried that you are driving under the influence. Does that mean she likes your performance? I'm not sure whether she likes you or not, but she definitely cares about you and your safety."

Manager Dumont smiled as he drove. "Mr. Queen, why would you ask this question? You understand women's hearts the best."

Hugh smiled and said, "Maybe it's because those involved are confused, while those who are watching can see more clearly. When I see other people's problems, I can see them very clearly. But when they happen to me, it's like being surrounded by a fog. I can't see clearly, and I can't find the direction. I feel a little anxious."

Manager Dumont agreed with his words: "Mr. Queen, do you like someone? Or do you think someone really likes you?"

Many girls who interact with Hugh actually have ulterior motives. Most of them came for Hayden before, but later, when they found out Hayden was a woman, those people still interacted with Hugh, probably because they wanted Hugh to bring them other benefits.

One was Hugh, the second young master of the Queen family and the true successor of the Queen Enterprise in the future. The other one was a lot of money.
